

Cheerio! Part 1

As hard as it was to say good-bye or Cheerio, to the United Kingdom, Brien, owner of Traditions Wealth Advisors, was glad to return to sweet home Aggieland as he was knackered (British word for 'tired'). Brien and his wife, Kathy, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary a couple of months early over spring break (June 9th is their official wedding date). They traveled to Dublin, Edinburgh and London. It was the trip of a lifetime! They braved the forty degree weather, bloody cold for these Texans, and explored as much of these cities as they could in less than ten days. One highlight of the trip was reuniting with their son, Chris, in London. Chris took a quick flight from his home in Rome to meet Brien and Kathy for the weekend. Chris is studying at the North American College Seminary in Rome and will be ordained a Catholic deacon in May of this year. While traveling, Brien couldn't help but reflect on the contrasts of the UK and the USA. Over the next few newsletters, Brien will delve in to topics such as :

1. Healthcare
2. Governance
3. Taxes
4. Retirement

Brien has observed and questioned these areas while traveling recently in Ireland, Scotland, and England but also from previous trips to Italy, Austria and Germany. More details from Brien's travels across the pond next month! Cheerio, Mate!
